GARY DENOUNCES UNION LABOR LEADER; "REDS" MENACE SCHOOLS

United States Fountain of Opportunity. But Latest Platform of Union Leaders Would Be Disgrace of All That American Constitution Stands For.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 13.—The death of merit, the substitution of labor unionism for constitutionalism, and the creation of a system of government the motto of which would be "Inequality of Opportunity"—these are but a few of the dire goals that labor union leaders are sweeping their following towards in their fight against capital, constitutionalism and equality.

This is the warning contained in an address delivered here this morning by Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel Corporation at the commencement exercises of Syracuse University.

The eminent jurist took the occasion in his address this morning to deliver himself of his most bitter denunciation of "the poison that is seeping into the splendid citizenship of America." He warned that the colleges and universities of this country must be saved from becoming cesspools of socialism.

Judge Gary's subject was "Opportunity." With passages devoted to great praise of labor, and argument after argument in defense of capital, the speaker demanded that if capital is to be subjected to governmental inquiry and restrictions in its uses, that labor should also be subjected to the same statute of investigation. He argued that the danger that lies in capital is not so great as the danger that lurks in the platform of the most recent demands of labor union leaders. Denouncing the platform and analyzing each of the labor union leader's demands, Judge Gary said:

"The platform of labor union leaders is the antithesis of the principle of equal opportunity. From the written demands of labor union leaders I quote:

"Standard scale of wages in all trades and classifications of workers. 'Check-off' system of collecting union dues and assessments.

"Principles of seniority to apply in maintenance, reduction and increase of working force.

"Abolition of company unions.

"Abolition of physical examination of applicants for employment.

"The meaning of these demands is that labor unions claim, and insist for all workers who are members of labor unions, that wages in all trades and classifications of workers, as determined by union labor leaders, shall be the same regardless of individual qualifications, industry, work done, or disposition; that employers shall deduct from the wages of a union laborer the amount of dues and assessments which may be made by the labor leaders from time to time and turn the same over to these leaders; that in maintaining the number of union labor workmen, increasing the force or reducing the force in any department, by promotion or otherwise preference shall be given to the workman who has been longest in the employment without reference to merit or capability; that all shop arrangements between employer and employee shall be established and all matters between employer and employee turned over to the labor union leaders; and that there shall be no opportunity for physical examination of applicants for employment in order to determine whether or not the applicant is afflicted with disease, contagions or otherwise, which might endanger the health or life of other employees. In addition to the narrowness of these demands, employers generally, and also unorganized labor comprising from 55 per cent to 90 per cent of the total employees, stand for equal opportunity, reward upon the merits of service, promotion for qualification, energy, honesty and character, and protection to the health of co-workers."

"Individually, the individual can realize the full advantage of the opportunities which this country offers only through the principles of the open shop as distinguished from the closed shop and arbitrary control of the union labor leaders. The open shop means freedom to the employer to employ in any line of employment, at any place and time, upon terms and conditions voluntarily agreed upon between the employer and employee. The closed shop means that no desirable employment can secure a place only on terms approved by the union labor leader or leaders having jurisdiction over the particular closed shop. The closed shop consists directly with the labor leader, by virtue of which conditions of employment and operations are fixed. As a rule, if not universally, and invariably in practice, an employee is permitted to change or remain in employment in the closed shop union as a member of a labor union and carry a union card. The employee is restricted in question of production, particular kind and character of work, in promotion, regardless of just desert, and in many other respects detrimental to his freedom and independence. The arrangement compels everyone desiring employment in the closed shop to join the union, pay the initiation fee and the assessments made by the leaders from time to time, all of which are considerable and utterly unnecessary. Unionism is a menace to the open shop."

ANNUAL REPORT OF A. F. OF L. CALLS FOR UNITY AND WAR ON OPEN SHOP

Declares Labor Faces Greatest Crisis—Lost 172,312 Members Last Year—Strikes Cost $8,462,175—War of War With Japan.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Denver, Colo., June 13.—The American Federation of Labor lost 172,312 of its 4,078,740 members during the past year and the bitter strife with capital as manifested by strikes cost organized labor within its ranks a sum totalling more than $8,462,175, according to the annual report of the executive council to the 41st convention of the great labor body, which opened its sessions here today confronted by the gravest crisis in its history.

Only once before has labor faced a crisis anything like it. That was seventeen years ago when it met in this same city in the wake of the panic of '93.

The loss in membership is laid to the great number of unemployed, which is estimated at 5,000,000. A sum approximating nearly $1,000,000, was spent on unemployment benefits in contrast to $65,026 reported expended last year.

Strikes cost the coal miners alone $3,000,000, the building trade more than 1,000,000, the iron moulders $956,031.31, the cigarmakers $910,970.11 and the machinists nearly $850,000. Only partial strike statistics are reported and there is no definite information as to the number of workers out. These incomplete figures show 1,635 strikes during the year against 1,255 last year.

"Our movement must now rally to a militant offense against the powers that have sought our ruin," the report says with a note of warning.

"The American trade union movement has gone through a year of unexampled struggle and difficulty.

"The enemies of labor and of human progress have assailed us from every side. The movement for the reduction of wages, the movement masquerading under the fictitious slogan of the 'open shop,' and perverts even most sinister of all, the revival as a part of the general anti-labor campaign of the vicious, enslaving individual contract by which workers are bound to their employers in unwilling servitude, have been massed and concentrated against the most potential voluntary movement of wage earners of our country. We must always expect and tolerate constructive criticism, but we cannot and must not fold our arms under the fire of wantonly destructive movements directed by avarice and greed."

Construction of public works by the government are demanded for the immediate relief of the unemployed as provided for in bills now before congress.

"A national commission to investigate the present railroad crisis and to make recommendations to congress for action with a membership chosen proportionately from the public, the railroad security holders and the railroad unions, is recommended in the report. The Cummins-Esch Transportation act creating the railroad labor board is branded "a mistake and a failure." The report declares "the folly and impracticability" of the board now stands proved and its breakdown complete."

It mentions the proposition of the security holders for a national corporation to operate the railroads under the joint control of the public, the stockholders and labor and says: "Organized labor is open to the consideration of all serious proposals."

Reviewing the present Congress, the report says:

"It is difficult to appraise accurately the temperament and attitude of many of the men elected to both the House of Representatives and the Senate."

"The convention is called on to continue labor's non-partisan political activities."

Speaking of labor's enemies, the report declares "the 'open shop' campaign has gained no headway."

"It is true the organized employers are still making strenuous efforts to destroy trade unionism and that in many directions the campaign to reduce wages continued," says the report. "What is equally true is that these movements continue with constantly decreasing vigor and effect and that their momentum of three months ago has been dissipated."

The report demands labor call a halt on discussion within its ranks.

"When labor is confronted by a crisis such as it has never been called upon to meet and overcome in the past two decades, it seems to us," says the executive council in the report, "that we should all for a moment at least be united and unwavering in our determination to stand together and defend ourselves wholeheartedly to the work in hand."

The report urges co-operative labor banks, credit unions and other co-operative enterprises as a path to prosperity.

"To stimulate rapid development of co-operatives the Federal Loan Act should be extended so as to give credit to properly organized co-operatives just as credit is now given to individual farmers," says the report. "Co-operation is no less vital and worthy of support than are the railroads, which were given hundreds of millions of dollars and an area of land equal to New England to facilitate their establishment."

"We repeat and emphasize the demand of organized labor that con-

41ST A. F. OF L. CONVENTION OPEN

Pro-Irish of All Factions Seek to Make Gathering "Go the Limit" For Their Cause—With Rail Unions, They Charge Gompers Has Not Worked for Their Interests.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Denver, Colo., June 13.—The forty-first annual convention of the American Federation of Labor opened here today with the opposition planning to rebuke the leadership of Samuel Gompers.

Those who charge that he does not support America's interference in the Irish controversy and is out of sympathy with the Irish cause were boasting that the veteran labor head "will be made to bow to the Sinn Fein."

The railroad unions which charge he has done little to put into effect the declaration of last year's convention on government ownership and democratic control of the railroads plan to bind him to definite action.

Irish sympathizers of all factions are lining up with demands that the convention "go the limit" on the Irish question. Many of them go so far as to declare Eamonn De Valera, president of the "Irish Republic," will dictate the Irish policies of America's great labor body.

According to reports, Harry Boland, De Valera's secretary who is still in this country, has sent resolutions to be presented to the Irish sympathizers tonight when they meet to draft their program for the convention.

These resolutions, it is rumored, provide for the appointment of a labor commission of three to call on President Harding and later to go to England and Ireland to survey conditions and cooperate in action with the labor forces in both countries.

They are also said to provide that the American Federationist, official organ of the American Federation of Labor, shall publish in each issue a statement proclaiming a boycott of organized labor on all British-made goods until the Irish "republic" is recognized by the United States.

According to reports, the resolutions were placed in the hand of Peter J. Brady of New York, with definite instructions to act. Brady, a member of the city government of New York, has been regarded as a sympathizer with the Cobden faction of the Irish movement. Brady denies he will present resolutions drafted by anyone but himself, and declares he has instructions from no one on the subject.

He is known as a Gompers supporter. He confirms claims of the anti-Gompers faction that Gompers will "go along with" the convention's action on the Irish question, however extreme it may be, and instructions will be given to the executive council will make it impossible for that body to evade the issue.

Although all Irish factions claim there will be harmonious action, there are predictions that two sets of resolutions will be presented to the convention.

T. H. Vind, president of the labor body of South Chicago, Illinois, and secretary of the labor bureau of the American Commission on Irish Independence, is here as a personal representative of Frank P. Walsh. He declared today that Gompers will be compelled to "go the limit" on the Irish question, along with the convention.

Letters in answer to a circular sent out by the labor bureau of the American Commission for Irish Independence to put labor leaders on record on the Irish question, were made public today by Vind.

"You ask for a personal statement on the Irish question," says Gompers in his answer. "A personal statement from me would not be as effective as the declarations made by the convention of the American Federation of Labor regarding the Irish question."

"Permit me to add that I am a member of the American Commission for Relief in Ireland."

Flag Day Exercises Public.

The officers of Kingston Lodge, Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, request The Freeman to announce that the Flag Day exercises to be held at the Elks Club, Tuesday evening, will be open to the public and hope that there will be a large attendance.

Control of credit capital be taken from the hands of private financiers and placed in the hands of a public agency to be administered by voluntary and cooperative methods."

The report recommends that the convention call upon the president to take the initiative or co-operate with other nations to bring about universal disarmament.

"The working people, the masses in the world population, can end wars if they have the independence to think and to give their convictions reality by daring to do," says the report.

The report reiterates the Federation's stand for Japanese exclusion and land laws, charging that a national anti-labor organization is engaged in a campaign to avoid the Chinese exclusion act to permit importation of Chinese labor. It touches on the danger of war with Japan and expresses confidence that the Japanese workers are as anxious as American labor for friendly relations.

The report puts the Federation on record against the proposed Department of Public Welfare sponsored by President Harding, declaring it will weaken the Department of Labor and is an attempt to take away from labor a sales tax or other new taxes.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE STATEMENT AT OPENING OF MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

The Kingston Chamber of Commerce today issued the following statement at the opening of its membership campaign:

TO THE PEOPLE OF KINGSTON.

The Kingston Chamber of Commerce exists for service to Kingston.

It represents the gathering together of men and women who want to help in making a greater and better Kingston for those who now live or have interests here, and for the generation to which we will hand on the city which a past generation has handed on to us.

We must make it a better city for those who follow us as it has been made a better city for us by those who came before us.

Material prosperity—the advancement of our trade and industry is a part of our task—for material prosperity is helpful and necessary for development, enjoyment and for everything which makes a city better.

By joining together and working together, we can each and all share in the increased prosperity which united efforts helps to produce.

But material prosperity is not enough. Health, recreation, education, public improvements, neighborliness, community spirit—all the things that make a city a good place to live in and to call our home are worth working for and can be mightily forwarded by common effort.

Every city finds a Chamber of Commerce necessary to the end that the best thought of its people and the united will toward development and improvement may be collected and effectively applied.

The Kingston Chamber of Commerce has been able in this past year and in other years to accomplish much that has helped in the making of a greater and better Kingston.

With success in doing some things, there has come increased responsibilities, greater public expectations and an accompanying increase in the necessary scope and extent of our work. To meet these responsibilities, we need the retention of the support, financial, moral and in personal service which has made possible the present strength of the chamber.

And we need new and added support. We wish at this time to recruit many new members and we wish increased support from present members, so that we may have resources which shall be in large measure adequate for the work which the Chamber of Commerce is rightly expected to undertake and complete.

We believe that in view of the great importance of having an efficient organization to represent the community in working for the community, everyone can afford to be a part of the Chamber of Commerce.

We enter this campaign in a spirit of confidence believing that its results will make possible one more long step forward in working for Kingston.

SIMS MUST DO MORE EXPLAINING

Belief in Capital Is That His Statement That Speech Was Garbled Makes It Improbable He Will Be Severely Disciplined But Must Tell Why He Delayed Answer To Denby.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, June 13.—The reply of Rear Admiral Sims to Secretary of the Navy Denby, constituting virtually a complete disavowal of the statements attributed to him in his London speeches, has made it practically certain that no severe punishment will be meted out to him when he returns to "report in person to the secretary of the navy" it was said today in high naval quarters.

Admiral Sims cabled that he had been "misquoted" and that the context of his reported speech was "garbled, misleading and inferentially wrong."

So far as the speeches themselves are concerned, this practically closes the case, it was said today. There was no disposition manifested today to question the veracity of the distinguished and volatile admiral.

Admiral Sims will, however, be called upon to explain to the secretary of the navy why he delayed four days in offering the explanation which Secretary Denby had requested "without delay." His tardiness in this respect, for which no explanation was offered, was regarded in naval circles today as constituting an offense more grave than the utterances which first got him into difficulties.

The admiral already has been accorded a rebuke more severe than has been handed any officer of his rank within the memory of the older naval officers in Washington. For an officer of Sims' rank to be called upon summarily to make an explanation and following this to be peremptorily ordered home and his leave revoked, constitute in themselves a reproof of no small proportions.

It is doubtful if anything further will be done regarding Admiral Sims' case until his return to Washington, expected the last of next week. The resolution of inquiry into his activities and reported utterances will be allowed to slumber in the waste naval affairs committee until he has reported to Secretary Denby, and in all probability, it then will be allowed to die a natural death.

HOLD-UP MEN WOUND BOARDER

Kraushaar Leaves For New York With Bullet in Wrist After Telling of Series of Exciting Events Near Fleischmanns.

Milton Kraushaar, a young man living at 72 East 93rd street, New York city, received a bullet wound in his left arm during an encounter with two highwaymen whom he was attempting to take in custody between Highmount and Fleischmanns about 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, according to his story when brought to Kingston late Saturday evening for medical treatment.

Saturday's adventure with the highwaymen, according to young Kraushaar, followed another adventure which he had with them Friday night, when they attempted to hold him up.

The young man arrived at Highmount last week and went to the boarding house of Lester Kelly, which is between Highmount and Fleischmanns, where he had spent previous seasons. This year he had been suffering from a nervous breakdown and had been at several other resorts before coming to the Fleischmanns section.

About 10 o'clock Friday night, according to his story, while returning to the Kelly house from calling on a young lady friend near Fleischmanns, he met two strangers who commanded him to hold up his hands. Instead of complying, he reached in his coat pocket, where his wallet containing his money reposed alongside a .22 calibre revolver. At sight of the revolver the two highwaymen fled in opposite directions. Kraushaar pulled the trigger but the gun did not work.

He returned to Fleischmanns, where on learning of the attempted hold-up, a party of seven or eight young men armed themselves and started back with him in two automobiles. He pointed out the place where the hold-up had been attempted and they started to beat the bushes.

As they alighted from the machines, he said, some member of the party told him he saw two men disappearing in the brush, so the entire party fired several volleys in that direction. The search continued until nearly 2 o'clock in the morning. On learning that Kraushaar's revolver did not work, one of the party who had two revolvers loaned him a gun.

After putting his own gun in good shooting condition Saturday afternoon, Kraushaar said he started for Fleischmanns about 4 o'clock in the afternoon to return the borrowed gun. Near the place where the hold-up had been attempted Friday night he saw a man sitting under a tree whom he recognized as one of the pair who had tackled him the previous night. Knowing that his own gun was in good working order, he pulled it out and told him he was under arrest. Before the man whom he was covering could obey the command to hold up his hands and march, Kraushaar found himself seized from behind and a blow on the forearm caused him to loosen his grip on his gun, which dropped to the road.

The man whom he had been covering grabbed the gun and the man who had been holding him loosed his hold. Kraushaar started to reach for the borrowed gun which was in his left hip pocket when, he says, the stranger who had his own gun fired. The bullet struck him in the fleshy part of the left arm, passing through the coat sleeve and shirt sleeve, and Kraushaar dropped to the road, stunned. Then one of the men quickly relieved him of his wallet, which he said contained a considerable amount of money. By the time he recovered from the shock the two men, with his own gun, were a considerable distance along the highway walking toward Highmount. He pulled the other gun and fired after them but did not hit them.

Kraushaar walked to the home of Mrs. Owen Kelly and asked her to telephone for a doctor and an officer. An officer who arrived took him to Dr. Flint of Fleischmanns, who probed for the bullet but could not locate it, and finally advised him to have an X-ray taken by Dr. Harry P. Van Wagoner of this city.

Kraushaar was brought to Kingston by Postmaster A. Haynes of Fleischmanns. An X-ray examination showed the location of the bullet near the wrist and it had shattered one of the arm bones. At the young man's request, Dr. Van Wagoner telephoned to his mother who, he said, recently had returned home after a long illness at a sanitarium. His father, he said, was a doctor, although subject examination of the New York telephone directory did not show him to be so listed. Mrs. Kraushaar called the family physician to the telephone and he advised Dr. Van Wagoner that the young man had been shot and requested that he be taken here and requested that the young man be sent to New York on the first train possible. He went on the 8:45 o'clock West Shore train Sunday morning.

Efforts were made by Fleischmanns constables to get in communication with state troopers at Florida but they were told the troopers were all on strike duty at Albany.

Kraushaar was unable to give a complete description of the highwaymen. He said one was about six feet tall and weighed a share. His beard and hair were dark brown, his complexion was reddish, he had a thin face with very prominent jaw bones, wore a somewhat peaked suit and a when it was found that he was getting started, he had reddish hair, wore a patterned suit and a straw hat.

Two men accompanying that description had been around Fleischmanns on Friday night or Saturday.

GREEK WAR ON KEMALISTS BEGAN

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, June 13.—Greece is opening hostilities against the Turkish Nationalists in Asia Minor by land and sea. Already the Greek fleet has been concentrated at full war strength in Turkish waters and has bombarded Turkish positions and sunk several small transports, according to information from Constantinople today.

King Constantine, of Greece, who left Athens on Saturday night is due at Smyrna tonight or tomorrow and immediately will place himself at the head of the Greek army for a new offensive against the Turks.

A Greek cruiser bombarded Kemalist (Turkish Nationalist) batteries on the Black Sea coast near Trebizond, west of Trebizond. The Turkish guns replied and an artillery duel developed. The town was set on fire.

Two steamships that had been transporting munitions for the Turkish Nationalists were shelled by the Greek destroyer Panther with four inch guns and sunk.

A Greek flotilla entered the harbor of Batumi and sank several small vessels.

An Athens dispatch said that Constantine issued the following message to the Greek nation before his departure:

"I place my confidence of victory upon the protection of the Divine and the heroic enthusiasm of the army and on the unconquerable force of the Hellenic ideal."

British men of war have taken up positions on both sides of Constantinople. According to late reports heavy forces of Turkish Nationalist troops were moving northward in Anatolia in the direction of Constantinople.

ROUND-UP IN VARROTTA PLOT

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, June 13.—The greatest Black Hand round up the police have undertaken in this city, for many years was under way today as a result of the murder of five year old Giuseppe Varotta, whose body was found in the Hudson river after the parents had failed to pay $2,500 ransom.

Ten men are already under arrest and the police said they expected to make other arrests later in the day. The criminals who killed little Giuseppe because his parents were too poor to pay the ransom, are believed by the police to be Sicilians.

According to the police records this is the first time on record the Black Hand kidnappers in New York have put a child to death for the non-payment of ransom. The Italian squad of the police department is under orders to run down every member of the gang, for the murder of the Varotta boy indicated that Black Handers are becoming bolder in their efforts to extort money through crime.

Salvatore Varotta, and his wife, the parents of the slain boy, are in a state of collapse. Little Giuseppe disappeared on May 24. Physicians who examined the body said that life had been extinct about two weeks.

Sometimes cats fare very well as beneficiaries under wills. It was a Parisian woman, a few years ago, who left 10,000 francs to her cat. On its death the money was to be spent on elementary schools. The feline has since died and the money distributed according to directions. In numerous instances fortunes have been left to found homes for cats and dogs. Sometimes these wills have been dictated by love of animals, while in others, alas, they have been written merely for the purpose of "getting even" with grasping relatives.

FACTIONS IN BAVARIA BITTER

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Berlin, June 13.—A serious political situation exists in Bavaria today. It arises from two causes:

- 1.—Tension over the disarmament demand.
- 2.—Hostility between the Socialists and the monarchists.

A general strike has been called in Bavaria this afternoon only about 50 percent of the workers obeyed.

Premier von Kahr, of Bavaria, has cut short his vacation and returned to Munich.

Funeral services were to be held at Munich this afternoon for Deputy Garret, an independent socialist, who was assassinated, and special police guards were posted to prevent disorders. The Bavarian government forbade public assemblies, a funeral procession or any demonstrations.

The identity of the murderer has not been learned by the police. Some believe that the killing had a political motive; others that it resulted from a personal grudge.

The public at Munich is aroused over the killing and leaders of the Moderate and Independent Socialists are making capital of the matter.

Synonymes For Jew.
The name Israelite is usually employed with reference to the religion. Hebrew with reference to the language, literature and race, while Jew is used indiscriminately to represent a member of the Semitic race or a follower of the religion of Moses. They would be distinguished as "convert to Judaism" and "convert to Christianity" or "converted Jew," so there would be no doubt that it was the religion that was being expressed.

SIMS MUTE ON EVE OF SAILING

First London News of Misquoting Charge Was When He Asked Paper To Make Correction in Second Speech—"Jackass" Utterance Not Questioned.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London June 13.—Rear Admiral William S. Sims, U. S. N., who has been recalled by Secretary of the Navy Denby because of his sensational public speeches here, has retired into silence and will say nothing more, the Daily Mail announced today.

Admiral Sims was quoted by the Daily Mail as saying:

"I should have liked to have given your country a farewell message before returning to the United States, but now I am under indictment and I feel that I can say nothing more here."

Secretary of the Navy Denby's cablegram ordering Admiral Sims to return at once and make a report, was received by the American naval officer this morning. Asked by an International News Service correspondent if he cared to make a statement, Admiral Sims replied:

"I have no comment to make."

A despatch received in London from Washington, containing Admiral Sims's reply to Secretary Denby's first cablegram of inquiry concerning the admiral's speech of last Tuesday was the first indication that the American naval officer had charged that he was misquoted. This Washington despatch was followed by publication of a letter from Admiral Sims to the London Times asking that newspaper to correct its report of his speech of Friday before the American Luncheon Club in which he (Sims) was made to refer to "impossible men on the Allied council."

So far nothing has been said here in public in the way of an accusation that Admiral Sims was misquoted in his famous "Jackass" speech of last Tuesday when he severely criticized the American friends of the Sinn Feiners.

The Sims incident has become a "live story" in London and English newspapers were filled with comment and dispatches. The Morning Post printed a story under the headline "Offending Speech," saying that the number of letters received from the public at large supporting Admiral Sims is greater than the number attacking him. "Those who understand the situation knew how much importance to attach to resolutions in favor of the Irish which were forced by 'those jackass' votes," said the London Times commenting upon the admiral's speech of last Tuesday. "The London Times says that dispatches from the United States indicate that the majority of Americans 'are with Admiral Sims.'"

The Daily Graphic reprints Admiral Sims's speech of last Tuesday with the following comment:

"To those of Sinn Fein sympathies in the United States he (Sims) said that the simple truth of the whole wretched business was that there was blood of American and English boys upon their (the Sinn Feiners') hands. They were Americans when they wanted money, but they were Sinn Feiners on the platform. They were like the zebra, either a black horse with white stripes or a white horse with black stripes. He (Sims) suspected that they were not horses at all but jackasses; but those jackasses had votes and there were a lot of them."

The Daily Telegraph quoted a Providence, R. I., Journal editorial in support of Admiral Sims, adding the following from the Daily Telegraph correspondent at Washington:

"The London cablegrams in some respects were admittedly garbled in the parts referring to Admiral Sims's London utterances."

The Daily Mail, after printing a news agency cablegram from Washington referring to Admiral Sims's charge that accounts of his public declarations were garbled, went into the history of the whole Sims incident as follows:

"The admiral has been recalled to the United States in consequence of his speech made in London last week denouncing Irish Americans for their Sinn Fein propaganda during the war. He will leave on the Olympic on Wednesday. In his speech at the luncheon of the English-Speaking Union last Tuesday, Admiral Sims is reported to have said that the Sinn Fein section in the United States did not have material and equipment to attack directly during the war, but they attacked indirectly; and that they were very dangerous foes. The admiral was reported to have continued with the declaration that the navy men were diverted from their legitimate duties of escorting troops and merchant ships and that caused a great many ships to be sunk and lives lost. There were people on the other side who, though technically American citizens, were not Americans at all. They were carrying on war against the United States today and war against Great Britain by trying to hold up the relations between the two countries. He (Sims) had not hesitated to say to these Americans and Sinn Fein sympathizers in the United States that the blood of English and American boys were on their hands. They were Americans when they wanted money, but they were Sinn Feiners on the platform. They were like the zebra, either a black horse with white stripes, or a white horse with black stripes. He (Sims) suspected they were not horses at all but jackasses."

Old Legend May Be True.
Some of the old writers have called the idea of any connection between Cornwall and the British or a sub-branch distant beneath the waves "vague and like tales," but at the present time the tide has turned and men of natural science and geographers in particular have proved conclusively that over upon a tiny Land's End, the Scillies and Brittany were all united, and many are of the opinion that the first parting from the Scilly Isles was in comparatively recent times.

GIFTS TO HOME FOR SICK SOLDIERS

The equipment committee of the sick soldiers home last week at the home of Mrs. John Forsyth on Albany avenue and took stock of work already done and needs to be filled before the opening of the home on July first. This committee is composed of representatives from many of the city churches, each of which is eager to make some gift for the maintenance of the home. Some of the churches have sent in supplies of linen and bedding, and others have given definite sums in cash to be spent for such things.

Certain members have visited the reconstruction hospital in New York and learned the methods of the "Lost War Forget Committee" which is doing similar work in New York under the direction of Mrs. Douglas Robinson, the sister of Colonel Roosevelt. Dr. Dederer of this city has personally attended to the choosing of the first twenty men, who are to accept the hospitality of the home on Albany avenue. Eight are to be sent here from the reconstruction hospital, six from the naval hospital, three from the "Service Club" on 46th street and three from "The Dug Out."

While these twenty men will be actually discharged from the hospitals as cured, and are no longer under government pay, it has been arranged that each man on finishing his two weeks vacation here is to report back the day after leaving here, to the hospital from which he came. This will relieve the committee from any responsibility as to the man's condition or behavior after he leaves the home.

A goodly list of articles furnished by the equipment committee has already been published in The Freeman. Additional gifts reported at the meeting are as follows: Church of the Comforter, 3 dozen face towels; Albany Avenue Baptist, 10 pair pajamas; Wurts Street Baptist, $15; Roundout Presbyterian, $10; Ladies' Aid of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church, $10; Fair Street Reformed Church through Mrs. Watson Freer, $25; the Loyal Friends Aid Society, $10; individual gifts included three bathrobes from Mrs. P. Bahl, and one from Mrs. Ralph Deyo, two night shirts from "A Friend," pajamas from Mrs. Watson Freer; a rubber blanket from Mrs. Sam Bernstein, and a dozen towels from Mrs. Wm. Kane. One of the most appreciated gifts was an offer from a resident of Albany avenue, name withheld by request, to provide the home with two months of milk a day for the two months, this being the output of a high grade Holstein cow which is to be loaned to the cause.

Mother Saved Her Baby

From Skin Suffering by use of Sykes Comfort Powder

Ashaway, R. I. — "With a large family of children and 17 grandchildren I have had a wide experience and I want to tell mothers that I have never found any powder that would keep a child's skin so free from chafing, itching, scalding, rashes and all irritations and soreness as Sykes Comfort Powder. There is nothing like it to heal the skin." — Mrs. Charles A. Brown, Ashaway, R. I.

The reason Sykes Comfort Powder is so successful in such cases is because it contains six healing, antiseptic ingredients not found in ordinary talcums. For twenty years it has been used and endorsed by physicians and mothers, and nurses call it "A Healing Wonder."

STICK WORK WON FOR KINGSTON

Kingston High School again captured the baseball trophy in the Central Hudson Valley Intercollegiate League by defeating Poughkeepsie at Washington Hollow Country Club Park on Saturday morning.

The game was rather loosely played but the locals knew just when to make their hits count and rolled up a safe lead in the beginning of the game. Davenport proved to be the clean-up man of the day, by getting five hits out of as many trips to the plate. Twice he hit, scoring two men on one hit and three men on the next one. Van Bramer and Case, too, registered two-baggers.

After the game several automobile loads of K. H. S. students who were at the game, started out to celebrate their victory as they used to in years gone by. They drove through the streets of Poughkeepsie blowing horns, singing their school song and cheering. Then after letting all Poughkeepsie know, that they had won the day, they came home and let the home folks know in a similar manner. The cars paraded up and down the streets with all sorts of red lights and other means of illumination. They stopped on the up-town streets and cheered their old captain, Bott, then the newly elected captain, Caunitz, and Coach Schirck.

It was a celebration such as has not been seen in Kingston in some time, but it was more like old times.

GERMANS GETTING
TRADE FROM U. S.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, June 13.—Germany is making rapid strides to regain her former dominant position in world markets, and now has launched upon a new commercial policy to destroy American competition.

Advices from world capitals today to the commerce department showed that Germany's trade war is being carried on with great success, through Germany's ability to employ liberal credit terms and low exchange, in out-bidding other world traders.

America's hold upon the South America market is being constantly weakened, the reports indicated, by Germany's method of dumping cheap products in those markets. Germany's trade invasion has extended along large lines into the orient, and she now plans to capture the bulk of the trade in China, now held by the United States and Great Britain.

These surveys of Germany's aggressive moves show that German capitalists are totally disregarding Germany's internal financial troubles in their price cutting war. In fact, the German trade lancers, based upon long term credit arrangements far more attractive to buyers, than are offered by the nationals of other countries, have had a pronounced effect in spreading money inflation throughout Germany, to a dangerous point, reports state.

The Scandinavian countries are combining to prevent ruin among their own domestic industries from German competition. Denmark, Norway and Sweden, it was said, will adopt increased tariff measures to prevent dumping of German products in those countries at prices lower than can be manufactured at home.

The aims of the Germans in South America reflect a carefully laid plan to uproot American trade established since the war began. In Argentina, Brazil and other principal nations, German goods are flooding the markets, at prices so low that Americans are unable to compete.

German dumping of various manufactured products in South American ports, aided by the German credit policy, is said to be a serious factor. In the heavy cancellations of American goods on South American piers. Millions of American capital are tied up in cancellations of American merchandise refused by buyers.

Hupmobile

Our honest conviction is that no other car in the Hupmobile class presents so many of the good mechanical points which are usually confined to cars selling for much more.

To begin with, the Hupmobile is manufactured in Hupmobile plants, by skilled Hupmobile workmen.

Motor, clutch, transmission, axles are Hupmobile products—with no limit placed on the quality of materials or workmanship by some outside manufacturer.

That means that Hupmobile engineering and production facilities, and the will and intent to give the buyer all he pays for, have full sweep.

More than anything else, perhaps, that accounts for the greater economy, the longer life, and the higher re-sale value which make the Hupmobile worth what it costs.

being confined to his bed under the care of a physician, bail was fixed at fifty dollars for appearance in court today. The necessary amount in cash was deposited by the defendant's wife and he was released.

Penny, who is an ex-service man, and his wife reside in Kingston and came to this village some weeks ago, being engaged by Mr. Foster, he as a general handy man about the hotel and Mrs. Penny as waitress. Last Friday Penny announced his intention of resigning his position and was paid the amount of wages due him. Mrs. Penny remaining, Mr. Foster informed Mrs. Penny that while he was willing to retain her in his employ, that he would not allow her husband to hang about the place.

The matter of an employee severing his relationship with the hotel is a mere incident in conducting a large hotel and little further consideration was paid to it. There had been no trouble or differences between them and Penny had made no complaint except that the work was too hard for him, which reason he stated to Manager Fred Allen, as the cause of his departure.

The first evidence that Penny harbored any but friendly feelings toward his former employer developed Friday morning after he had left Beekman Arms, when Lawrence Martin, the bell boy of the hotel, was arrested near Staatsburg by State Trooper Riley charged with driving a car without a license. At the time of his arrest he was driving a small truck belonging to the Beekman Arms and was on his way to Poughkeepsie. When arraigned before Judge Burke of Staatsburg, he stated that he was driving the auto by the direction of his employer and Mr. Foster was notified to appear on the following Monday. The case was settled by the posting of a five dollar fine. It is alleged Penny reported the fact of Martin driving the car without a license to the state police and the police of neighboring places. Sunday evening Mr. Foster discovered that Penny was in the room occupied by Mrs. Penny, he having gained access to it by means of the fire escape. The apartments occupied in the west wing of the place are on the third floor of the hotel. At the suggestion of Mr. Foster, Mrs. Penny requested her husband to leave as the second floor might result if he persisted in remaining. He declined to go and Mr. Foster was notified. He went to the third floor of the building and demanded of Penny that he vacate. As a result of the argument that ensued the two men clinched and in the struggle at the head of the stairway, Penny, it is charged, tripped Mr. Foster and forced him upon his back across the banister, causing serious injuries which have compelled him to remain in bed for several days. No one witnessed the combat between the two except Mrs. Penny, whose screaming brought a number of the guests to the scene and the men were separated. The cries for police brought Chief Duffy on a double quick and Mr. Foster ordered that Penny be arrested.

After the hearing June 6, Mrs. Penny gave up her position and the couple returned to their home in Kingston. The trial will doubtless attract a large attendance.

LEVINE BRINGS UP TECHNICALITY

After being brought to jail this morning, where he had been committed to await the action of the grand jury, Abram Levine took habeas corpus proceedings before County Judge Joseph M. Fowler to test the validity of his commitment, which had been made by Justice of the Peace Theodore A. Voss of Phenicia.

Levine, who claims he is a summer boarder near Phenicia, was arrested by the Board of Water Supply Police and was committed to jail for "felony, having narcotics in his possession."

Ex-Mayor William D. Brinnier, who appeared for Levine, claimed the commitment was defective in failing to name or describe the crime charged and must be more specific, using as an illustration that he carried a pocket of cigars and tobacco was a narcotic, and still by carrying the cigars he was not violating the law, not yet.

District Attorney Traver, who appeared for the People, contended that in view of the language of the narcotics law the commitment was sufficiently definite to describe the crime and that the kind of narcotic was a matter of evidence.

Judge Fowler reserved decision.

CAR BUTTED MAN'S RIB IN TWO

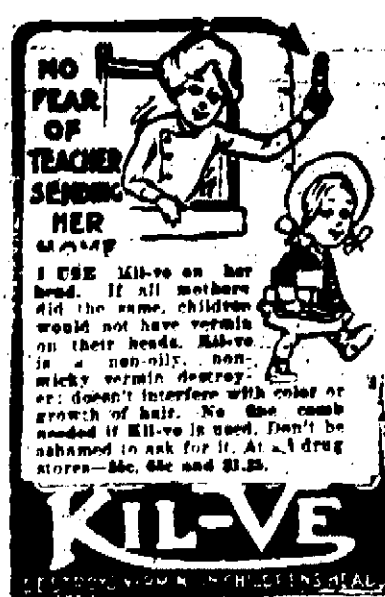

A boarder at the home of J. Sickler near Glenford received a broken rib Saturday afternoon when his automobile moved forward after being cranked. The man and his wife were preparing to leave the house for a trip and he cranked the car, which moved forward. He attempted to stop it but the car continued to move and finally brought up against a tree, with the man between the tree and the hood. All except one of the ribs withstood the impact and in order to have the one broken rib fixed, as well as some minor injuries he came to the office of Dr. H. P. Van Wakenen, who attended to him.

It is stated that the machine is the result of seven years of study, and that the results are very satisfactory—Scientific American.

FESTIVAL OF REVELATION

And Confirmation Services at Temple Emanuel.

An unusually interesting service was held Sunday at Temple Emanuel, the occasion being the Festival of Revelation, which commemorates the giving of the Ten Commandments on Mount Sinai. The festival is nearly thirty-five hundred years old. A feature of the festival was the special confirmation service held in Temple Emanuel for the first time in many years. The young people showed considerable knowledge of the ethics and tenets of the faith of Israel. Dr. Bernard M. Kaplan conducted the examination and confirmed the candidates in a most impressive manner. Morris Block and D. Wetterhahn, in behalf of the congregation, presented the confirmants with the confirmation certificates. The confirmants were: Beth Blankfeld, Rhoda Schoenfeld, from Saugerties; Myron Oppenheimer, Mabel Kirschner, Sophie Goldberg and Marion Cassier.

Dr. Kaplan in addressing the confirmants laid special stress on the Fifth Commandment, "Honor your father and your mother," said Dr. Kaplan, "and you will respect manhood and womanhood, God and our country's laws. The best men and women, the best citizens, are they who respected and honored their fathers and mothers."

The musical service was also very impressive. In addition to the regular choir, Jacob Mollett, Mrs. S. Mann, S. Scudder and Florence Bergman participated in the program.

PAIGE

The Most Beautiful Car in America

Paige Makes a Clean Sweep

Breaks Every Official Stock Chassis Record From 5 to 100 Miles at Uniontown Track

The Paige triumph is now complete.

From 5 to 100 miles, all world's official speed records for a stock chassis were captured by the Paige "6-66" Daytona Model at the Uniontown, Pa., track May 29th, 1921.

Following a world's stock chassis record made January 21st, when the Paige "6-66" Daytona model covered a measured mile in 35.01 seconds, the Uniontown performance caps the climax to a long series of amazing records.

Paige, thus, has made a clean sweep and stands today the unchallenged master of power and speed—the supreme and unique example among automotive products for heroic stamina and endurance.

When the mile record fell in January, Paige determined to make the record complete. With the officials of the A.A.A. racing board in charge, the track at Uniontown, Pa., was selected and Mulford driving a Daytona "6-66" stock chassis was off to shatter records that had remained unassailable since July 28th, 1917.

A Clean Sweep

The first five miles were covered at a terrific pace, the electric timer recording 3 minutes, 15.48 seconds, a speed of 91.8 miles an hour.

From there on the Paige came roaring over the official's wire with clock-like regularity that ate up the miles greedily. Twenty-five thirty, fifty minutes went by and there was no noticeable slackening of speed.

When the Paige thundered across the tape at the end of the 100th mile the feat had been accomplished.

In the most consistent performance ever recorded the records had fallen. The five, ten, twenty, twenty-five, fifty, seventy-five, 100-mile and One-Hour records had been beaten in every instance by a handsome margin.

The official figures showed that Paige had covered the full century in one hour, 6 minutes and 53.26 seconds, or 89 miles, 1510 yards in 60 minutes—which is just 250 yards less than 90 miles. The former hour record was 83 miles.

And now for a brief review of "6-66" history.

Speed—Power—Endurance

When a Paige "6-66" stock chassis made the fastest official time of the season for the Pike's Peak climb, some idea of its amazing power and stamina was revealed under unusual circumstances.

When on January 21st the Paige "6-66" Daytona model traveled at a rate of 102.8 miles an hour, thus setting an official world's stock chassis record for a mile, the fleetness of the "6-66" was established.

When at 100 different points throughout the country 100 new local hill climbing records were made, the power of the Paige "6-66" became a country-wide sensation.

Now with these new records from 5 to 100 miles, made without a stop, Paige has inconceivably established its supreme powers of endurance, as well as of speed. There could be no feat that answered all questions of supremacy with greater finality.

The lesson to the car owner is obvious. No matter what price he may be willing to pay he can find no car on the market today that offers him more than the Paige "6-66." The record is complete, and Paige stands as the undisputed leader of American sporting cars.

In Your Own Interest—Make This Test

We ask you to take just one demonstration in a "6-66" model and judge it from the standpoints of power, speed, acceleration, spring suspension and general motor efficiency.

Get the facts—actual lap time of the tests—and make a record on the demonstration card furnished by our Dealer.

Then take a second demonstration in any other car, at any price, and compare results. That is all we ask—and we make no prophecies whatever in regard to your ultimate conclusions.

We merely want you to know the "6-66" in action. We want you to compare it detail for detail—performance for performance—with the finest and most expensive cars of the nation.

Then, decide for yourself whether the "6-66" is or is not the greatest dollar for dollar value ever offered to the motoring public.

NO LONGER OLD AT THIRTY

Women Have Proved Conclusively That Age Is Not at All a Matter of Years.

Perhaps women who are not at all sensitive about their age are still in a minority. But their number is growing. In almost any gathering where women chatter pleasantly and with some intimacy about things which interest them you find at least one woman who cheerfully admits that she is not thirty-five, but forty-five, or that it is a very long time since she was thirty.

Use of the magic conversation which has helped to break women's lives in this stupid tradition that at any given age a woman gets old. Years ago most women celebrated their thirtieth birthdays with a sense of depression. With greater common sense, women at that age began to see that even after thirty they might enjoy life, and that the duties and amusements and joys which are possible at twenty are no less possible at forty.

Today more fingers this ancient superstition that if you have reached a certain age you must be about the face. But it will not be long ago. Now that we hear of a woman of sixty playing tennis regularly and of women past fifty leading themselves together in cherry fishing as so-called recreation, of women of every age and age enjoying life, it will become a commonplace in common eyes ago. From the Continental Edition of the London Mail.

Did you ever see a head of Arthur Wood which is as fine and firm as the finest silk? This is because Arthur Wood has the secret of the skin. It is the secret of the skin that it is not old, but young. It is the secret of the skin that it is not old, but young. It is the secret of the skin that it is not old, but young.

The will was made provision for them to be placed on the grounds of the girls.
